CORONA (COVID-19) UPDATE MONDAY 16 MARCH 12.50pm

The advice around Covid-19 is evolving daily and this Notice represents the most recent advice we have as of Monday 19 March 2020.

Precautions in place

The school has taken the following steps to minimise the transmission of COVID-19:

- The frequency of cleaning for high touch points in common areas such as bathrooms, handrails, and doors has been increased.
- Soap remains available in every toilet and posters promoting best possible hygiene practices are displayed around the school.
- Alcohol Based Hand Rub has been placed in prominent areas around the school for student and staff use.
- Students have been advised to observe social-distancing practices.
- A number of events planned for Term 1 and 2 are postponed until further notice. This includes, but is not limited to, whole school assemblies, concerts, large excursions and camps. In addition, a number of partner organisations have cancelled activities such as debating and Interschool carnivals.

Situation regarding school closure

Over the last week we have received a number of queries about a possible school closure. If a WA public school has to close, it will come from the Department of Education acting on advice from the WA Health Department's Chief Health Officer.

If this happens, all families will be contacted and provided with the relevant information. This contact may be during the school day, or before or after school. It is therefore important that we have up-to-date contact details for you. Please notify the front office if these have changed by email to mountlawley.shs.enquiries@education.wa.edu.au.

As more information becomes available during this evolving situation we will endeavour to keep you updated as often as possible via Connect and the school website.

While it is acknowledged that this may be a stressful time for some members of our school community, parents/carers are assured that the safety of students and staff is our priority.

School Communication

STUDENT MOBILE PHONES POLICY "OFF AND AWAY ALL DAY"

The Department of Education does not permit student use of mobile phones in public schools unless for medical or teacher directed educational purpose.

It is not a requirement at Mount Lawley Senior High School for students to have a mobile phone at school. The School has duty of care for all students when they are attending the school. All communication between parents and students, during school hours, should occur via the School's Administration

This policy details the conditions under which mobile phones are permitted at Mount Lawley Senior High School.

INTERNATIONAL WOMENS DAY

The Annual International Women's Day Breakfast for female student leaders from Years 10, 11 and 12, was held Mount Lawley Senior High School on the 6th of March. The breakfast was hosted by our principal, Ms Lesley Street. The celebration of International Women's Day is to recognise the economic, social, cultural and political achievements of women around the globe.

Our guest speaker, Ms Nicole Jolly, a member of the school board, came in to talk about her experiences in industry as a woman. It was truly inspiring and uplifting to hear about her journey as she encouraged us to know of our own capabilities in the future.

Catered by our Year 12 Certificate II Hospitality Students, the breakfast was certainly delicious and a delight to eat.

On behalf of the year councillors, we would also like to thank Ms Street for hosting this uplifting event.

2020 House Swimming Carnival

The annual House Swimming Carnival at Terry Tyzack Aquatic Centre was swum and won for another year. This year, the House Captains were charged with the responsibility of choosing a theme for House events such as the Swimming and Athletics carnivals. The 80's decade was chosen and what a decision that was, with staff and students dressing up and 80's music blasting all day.

It was a fantastic day that showcased Mount Lawley Senior High Schools swimming talent, participation and school spirit to the community. I would personally like to thank all the staff, students and parents/guardians for making the day such a positive one and big congratulations to O'Connor for winning the overall House Shield.

Please note: there was an error on the day in the Year 9 Champion Girl category. Congratulations to Sophie Bradley for winning Champion Girl in a tie with Jazmin Wilkie. Well done girls.

YEAR 7 SCIENCE

So far this term in Science, we have learnt about how to stay safe in the lab and all about PPE (personal protection equipment) such as goggles. One of the first things we learnt was how to use a Bunsen burner. Once we had mastered the Bunsen burner we received our Bunsen burner licence. Now, thanks to our Science teachers, we can name all the pieces of Science equipment that we will be using this year. We also know how to create a hypothesis and to understand the difference between an observation and an inference. For our experiment we were divided into groups and each group member had a job that they needed to do to complete the experiment correctly. That is only a few of the awesome things we have learnt this term so far.

FREE Positive Parenting Program: TEEN SEMINAR SERIES

Parents/carers are invited to attend free parenting seminars to learn practical, positive and effective ways to strengthen bonds with their teenagers, encouraging them to develop the skills to become independent and to successfully connect with the wider community.

The seminars are standalone and parents may choose to attend one, two or all three of the seminars. However, it is best to attend all three to get the full benefit of the program. The seminars are a presentation style format rather than fully interactive. However, there is a question and answer opportunity in the last 15 minutes of the seminar.

Wednesday 18 March Seminar Three:
Getting Teenagers connected

Time: 7:00pm – 9:00pm

Venue: Mount Lawley Senior High School
Staff Room Upstairs

Cost: Free – however bookings are essential.

<https://www.eventbrite.com.au/e/free-positive-parenting-program-teen-seminar-series-tickets-31740627070>

Parents of children in Years 6, 7, 8 and 9 are welcome to attend. This is an adult only event, so please DO NOT bring your teenager or younger children along.

NB: These seminars focus on strategies for supporting very low level challenging behaviours that teenagers display. For more in-depth parent support and complex presentations, the Group Teen Triple P would be a suitable option. You can check when and where this program is offered through the Department of Health (http://healthywa.wa.gov.au/Articles/S_T/Triple-P-Positive-Parenting-Program)

WEEK 7 – RESILIENT SELF-BELIEF

One component of Self-Determination Theory (SDT) is competence, the feeling you have the skills to master something. Describe a time you have felt competent and how it motivated you. Acknowledgement: Ryan & Deci

A key social-emotional resilience skill, which students need to negotiate the challenges of adolescence and schooling, is a healthy sense of self-belief in their self-worth as a person. This begins with accepting all the aspects which make up who they are as a person, both those they like and those they don't like. Also, accepting that experiencing the full range of emotions is perfectly normal. To support these things, they can mindfully focus on using their top strengths in their every thought, word and action.

Effective ways to develop self-acceptance and self-belief in themselves include:

- every day reflecting on and writing down three good things they are grateful for that happened, why they happened and how they can make them happen again
- every morning thinking of the three things they are most looking forward today
- looking for opportunities to do little acts of kindness to do good to feel good
- striving to bring out the best in others which will bring out the best in themselves

Conversations at home and at school about these things will enable them to develop as young citizens with spirit and confidence. Having self-doubts is perfectly natural, cultivating self-acceptance and self-belief will overcome them.

Wellbeing Measurement Tool: Students, staff and parents can measure the state of their wellbeing by taking the free PERMAH survey at <https://permahsurvey.com>

WEEK 8 – RESILIENCE AND MINDFULNESS

Parent Wellbeing: Describe your relationship with each of your work colleagues and come up with one thing you could do to enhance your connectedness with each of them.

Resilience seems to be the "in" word people in education use to describe a quality they want students to have. But it would be interesting, if many of them, actually know what it means to be resilient. The most common description people say, is being able to bounce back from adversity. But do they know what skills students need to possess to be able to bounce back?

Studies have shown that there are seven key skills, which are essential to develop in both students and ourselves, to be resilient.

They are:

- Optimism and hope for the future – thinking positively when striving to achieve goals – develop through goal setting and growth mindsets.
- Regulating emotions – controlling the intensity and duration of emotions – develop through wellbeing fitness challenges and strengths boosters.
- Impulse control – resisting the urge to react on emotions – develop through mindfulness activities.
- Flexibility of thinking – changing thinking for different situations – develop through habits of mind and thinking tools.
- Empathy – accepting the needs and feeling of others – develop through acts of kindness and listening.
- Self-belief – valuing yourself and your top strengths – develop through actioning character strengths
- Building social-connectedness – feeling a sense of belonging – develop through active constructive responding.

POSITIVE EMOTIONS + GRATITUDE

SELF-BELIEF

Wellbeing Reality: by believing in yourself as a person who matters, enables you to feel that you can control most situations in your life without help from others. You have confidence in your physical, social, emotional and mental abilities to live a fulfilling life.

You can build your internal control by focusing on using your strengths in everything you do and practising being grateful every day. You are one of a kind, so value yourself. Acknowledgement: Bandura & Rotter

Discuss with a classmate – what are you doing to build your internal control and self-belief more?

When are times you have acted with courage and what did you do?

Last Word – you are the very best asset you have, believe it.

MINDFULNESS

GRATITUDE CHECK. It doesn't matter what time of day it is. Think of and write down as many things that have happened today that you are thankful for and why you are.

RESPECTFUL RELATIONSHIPS

With a classmate discuss – role models play an important part in showing you respectful and ethical ways to act and conduct yourself. Who are two male and two female role models you look up to and why? What are two positive personal descriptors to describe each of them?

CHARACTER STRENGTH: Use PERSPECTIVE to do STRENGTHS THINKING on page 130. www.viacharacter.org

POSITIVE EMOTIONS + GRATITUDE

RESILIENT SELF-BELIEF

Wellbeing Reality: through you developing the three resilient self-belief sources, you will protect yourself against being plagued by negative thoughts and fixed mindsets. Aim to do little things moment by moment to build the following into your makeup:

I have sources – external supports you trust and believe in to seek help from; your champions.
 I am sources – internal control of your feelings and attitudes by using your strengths.
 I can sources – positive social-emotional and interpersonal skills.

Being conscious of these, enables you to show empathy and gratitude and flourish. Acknowledgement: Yates and Masten

Discuss with a classmate – what happens if you are short on each of these three sources of resilient self-belief?

What do you have to adapt in your life to ensure you are developing these three sources?

Last Word – to live a meaningful and fulfilling life, believe that becoming something comes from doing.

MINDFULNESS

GRATITUDE CHECK. It doesn't matter what time of day it is. Think of and write down as many things that have happened today that you are thankful for and why you are.

RESPECTFUL RELATIONSHIPS

With a classmate discuss – when faced with peer pressure to be involved in something they don't want to do, people usually respond in one of three ways; being assertive – firm and respectful, aggressive – angry and forceful or in a timid way – soft and yielding. Create three examples of each and how each could affect your relationships?

ENGAGEMENT + MINDFULNESS

RESILIENCE AND MINDFULNESS

Wellbeing Reality: by mindfully developing resilience skills, you can confidently overcome challenges. The resilience skills are:

- Optimism and hope for the future – use goal setting to develop growth mindsets
- Regulating emotions – use wellbeing fitness challenges and strengths boosters
- Impulse control – use mindfulness and breathing activities
- Flexibility of thinking – use Habits of Mind and thinking tools
- Empathy – use acts of kindness and listening
- Self-belief – use deliberate strengths practice
- Building social-connectedness – use active constructive responding.

Acknowledgement: Rievich & Shatte
 Discuss with a classmate – how well have you developed each of these skills in yourself?

What types of peer group pressure situations do you find hard to say no to?

Last Word – you aren't born with resilience, you work at it.

MINDFULNESS

POSITIVE EMOTIONS. For the next week choose two Positive Emotions you will feel for each day. Think about what body language you will show for each of them.

RESPECTFUL RELATIONSHIPS

With a classmate discuss – what are the five biggest issues you think students of your age say are their main concerns in their lives. Are your issues the same and what are you doing to seek help in sorting them out?

CHARACTER STRENGTH: Use FAIRNESS to do FEEL GOOD MENU on page 132. www.viacharacter.org

ENGAGEMENT + MINDFULNESS

MINDFUL COPING

Wellbeing Reality: through making a deliberate and conscious effort to think about which of your strengths to best use for different situations, you will enable yourself to effectively cope with life's inevitable ups and downs. It makes sense to make the choice to accept this fact.

Ensure you:
 Have empathy for others' needs and feelings.
 Show gratitude for the good things in your life. Welcome mistakes to grow your abilities. Value others because they matter. Think flexibly for different situations. Seek help before problems become serious. Self-regulate your emotions to think rationally. Acknowledgement: Brooks & Goldstein

Discuss with a classmate – which of your strengths would you use for each of the above?

When are times you have deliberately thought like this and when have you been on autopilot?

Last Word – knowing and talking about strengths isn't using them; have the courage to start now.

MINDFULNESS

POSITIVE EMOTIONS. For the next week choose two Positive Emotions you will feel for each day. Think about what body language you will show for each of them.

RESPECTFUL RELATIONSHIPS

With a classmate discuss – social media and gaming has rewired many Gen Z brains. Instead of the human tendency to enjoy others company to feel lifts from serotonin and oxytocin, these students only want short term dopamine hits from their screens. What are you doing to have real relationships with real people in real time?

CHARACTER STRENGTH: Use FAIRNESS to do FEEL GOOD MENU on page 134. www.viacharacter.org

WEEK 9 – ACTIVE CONSTRUCTIVE RESPONDING (ACR)

Parent Wellbeing: Failing well, accepting that mistakes are part of life, forgiving yourself for making them and seeking feedback to learn new approaches to correct them are valuable skills to develop. Describe a time you have done these to succeed.

Respectful relationships are underpinned by participating in open and trusting face to face conversations with others. This involves listening intently and enthusiastically to others tell you their story, without interrupting. Welcoming body language with eye contact, open posture, interested and positive facial expressions, an inquiring tone of voice and nodding with points raised, all contribute to being there for others. Do you know when others are genuinely interested in your story?

To develop students' self-awareness of how to show empathy and build respectful relationships, they need to be provided with numerous opportunities to practise using active constructive responding in their face to face conversations with others.

Simply asking another person to tell you more about a story they are sharing with fills both of you with uplifting spirals of positive emotions, which benefit your and their wellbeing. Another important aspect to emphasise with students is to aim to say five positives for every negative when having a conversation.

Other ways of listening and responding which don't build respectful relationships include:

- passive constructive: listening quietly, without any interest or enthusiasm.
- passive destructive: showing disregard to learn about their story.
- active destructive: dismissing their story with disrespectful body language and changing the subject.

"If your actions inspire others to dream more, learn more, do more and become more, you are a leader." John Quincy Adams

WEEK 10 – INSTANT GRATIFICATION

Parent Wellbeing: Another component of Self Determination Theory (SDT) is autonomy, the feeling you have a choice in what you do. Describe a time you have felt autonomous and how it motivated you.

(Acknowledgement: Ryan & Deci)

Non-stop communication on their devices, is providing students with something that has never happened before, instant satisfaction without exerting any effort. These continual little bursts are releasing the brain chemical, dopamine, which is what we feel when we achieve something. Many people are now living in a constant dopamine loop of instant gratification. Why push hard for an extended period of time to accomplish something special, when you can get a similar blast of dopamine by just looking at your device?

It takes a long term and determined effort to build character and desirable personal qualities, and we need to ensure that we provide an environment for periods of time away from the distraction of devices. These valuable qualities cannot be measured by tests, because they are far more important than that to live a life that matters. They include grit, resourcefulness, motivation, self-discipline, empathy, compassion, sense of beauty and wonder, humility, curiosity, persistence, enthusiasm, civil-mindedness, courage, leadership and self-awareness.

To become their best possible self, students must have time to be face to face with real people in real time and also have time to just connect with themselves to watch their own thoughts coming and going.

WEEK 9

MIDDLE PLANNER PAGE 38

RELATIONSHIPS + EMPATHY

ACTIVE CONSTRUCTIVE RESPONDING (ACR)

Wellbeing Reality: by using ACR when listening and responding to others sharing their good news, enables you to build trusting relationships. Through your enthusiastic listening, eye contact and welcoming body language, they know you are interested, feel you think they matter and experience the natural highs of serotonin and oxytocin. Asking them to tell you more, creates further positive feelings.

Ways of listening which spoil relationships are passive constructive, passive destructive and active destructive.

Acknowledgement: Gable, Gonzaga & Strachman

Discuss with a classmate – when are times you have practised ACR and tell me more?

Who are people who you think feel that you matter by using ACR?

Last Word – you can't fake caring, so be fully present for others.

SHARING GOOD NEWS

Wellbeing Reality: through listening actively and responding enthusiastically to others sharing their good news face-to-face, both them and you will feel the uplifting highs of serotonin and oxytocin. Nearly 60% of young people would prefer to send a text rather than talk face-to-face with someone in the same room. Doing this takes away their opportunity to feel a sense of belonging and social connectedness, two most powerful builders of wellbeing.

When someone shares their good news story, don't interrupt, use eye contact and ask tell me more.

Acknowledgement: Gable, Gonzaga & Strachman

Discuss with a classmate – what are your good news stories? Listen actively and don't interrupt. Feel good?

Who could you ask to share their good news stories? Were they grateful?

Last Word – the best way to make others feel that you think they matter is through listening in person to them.

MINDFULNESS

BIRDS. Walk outside and spend five minutes counting as many birds as you can and how many different types you can identify.

RESPECTFUL RELATIONSHIPS

With a classmate discuss – ask your parents or grandparents what types of things caused them to become stressed or anxious when they were your age and what they did to control their emotions from strengthening? How similar are your things to theirs?

MEANING + PURPOSE

INSTANT GRATIFICATION

Wellbeing Reality: by giving yourself time away from your phone, you can learn to experience fulfilling real life relationships.

Instant gratification is living for the continual now moments from taps on your phone. You are in an unhealthy dopamine loop of wanting little feel good hits often, which give you a false sense of fulfillment. Why get satisfaction working to achieve goals when you can get it by looking at a screen?

Acknowledgement: Fredrickson & Sapolsky

What are other things in your life that give you more satisfaction than social media?

Last Word – non-stop dopamine loops make relationships artificial and cheap.

MINDFULNESS

AREAS. In your classroom or bedroom, look at each of the walls and break them down into how many square metres there are on each wall. To concentrate even more, don't count the doors and windows.

RESPECTFUL RELATIONSHIPS

With a classmate discuss – how can you recognise when others' expectations of what a respectful relationship should be is different to yours? What do you find are the most common differences?

PURPOSEFUL QUALITIES

Rock and Water

For Parent and Child

Physical exercises are constantly linked with mental and social skills. The Rock and Water Program leads from simple self-defence, boundary and communication exercises to a strong notion of self-confidence. The program offers a framework of exercises and ideas to assist boys and girls aged between 8 and 14 years to become aware of the purpose and motivation in their life.

The following topics are discussed:

- Bullying
- Life goals
- Developing a positive self-image
- Communication skills
- Personal boundaries

The course teaches the following:

- Practical anti-bullying strategies
- Self-confidence, self-awareness and self-control
- An introduction to basic self-defence skills
- Communication skills and interpretation of body language cues
- Alternatives to aggressive verbal and physical responses to fear and doubt
- Thinking and being in control through grounding, centeredness and mental focus
- Boundary awareness

Facilitated by Craig Van Waardenburg (credited Rock and Water trainer) this family activity based program builds on the complementary strengths of 'the rock' and 'the water'. One is firm and assertive, while the other is flexible and willing to cooperate.

Note: Due to the nature of the activities, there is only room for one child per adult attending.

APRIL REVISION PROGRAM

A SUCCESSFUL PROGRAM
Master Mind Australia tutorials have a history of successfully supporting students to achieve their academic objectives. Students report that they feel more confident to tackle their assessments after attending our holiday programs. To view the student evaluations for previous courses see the 'Program Feedback' tab at mastermindaustralia.com.au or waceplus.com.au

PROGRAM INCLUDES:
Study Skills: This program contains five hours of teaching broken up into one hour a day for the five days. It focuses on units such as exam techniques, stress management, goal setting and time management.
Essay Writing: The essay writing tutorials consist of five hours of teaching broken up into one hour a day for the five days. It re-teaches the structure of a critical essay and reinforces the importance of constructing a sound thesis and topic sentences, and revises how to include evidence to justify these claims.
Subject Revision: These classes consist of 9 hours of teaching over the five days. The program consists of re-teaching and revision, and is designed to reveal to students how the work they have learnt in term 1 will be assessed in first semester exams.

EXAM PREPARATION
The classes focus on specific topic revision followed by a discussion on how this material is assessed in ATAR-style exam questions. There is sufficient time within the program for teachers to model how to answer exam questions successfully as well as time for students to independently practice constructing their own responses. All our senior school teachers have significant marking experience and know what is needed for students to succeed in exams.

FAQ

How can students be assured that what they have learnt at school will be addressed in the WACE+ Program? The answer to this important question is really quite simple.

- The foundation of our revision classes is the Western Australian curriculum which is the same syllabus/guidelines used by the school.
- WACE+ keep their classes small which allows students access to more one-on-one time with their teacher.
- We also send out a questionnaire to all families participating in the program before the classes begin, to find out exactly what topics and tests students have been studying, and this information is forwarded to the WACE+ teachers for inclusion in their programs.
- This questionnaire also asks families to alert us of any specific weaknesses in the student's knowledge that may have been identified by the school or the student so that specific areas can be re-taught by the WACE+ teacher.
