

MOUNT LAWLEY SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

LAWLEY NEWS

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT

Term 2 started smoothly for the majority of the school although for those students and staff on the Italian tour there was an unexpected delay in Venice as they waited for the lifting of the flight ban due to the Icelandic volcanic eruption. Neither the students nor teachers were too concerned about the chance to spend two more days in this beautiful city but all agreed it was a great relief to be finally on the plane. Highlights of the tour were the billets with families in the northern town of Tirano where Mount Lawley signed a memorandum of understanding with a new sister school Balilla Pinchetti, and trips to Rome, Florence, Naples, Pompeii, Milan, Pisa and finally to Venice. Photos of the trip can be viewed on the blog at www.lawleyitalia2010.blogspot.com. Mrs Bianca Petale is to be congratulated for her outstanding organisation and leadership of the tour. I certainly felt privileged to accompany the students and I commend them as wonderful ambassadors for our school.

Unfortunately the delay meant that I was not able to be present for our Anzac Day ceremony. Many people have reported that it was one of the most moving services that we have had at the school. Students were highly respectful of the significance of the occasion and contributed through choral performances and readings. Distinguished guests included Arthur Leggett (who gave an inspiring speech), Des Beard and Captain Shane Moxey from the Army Reserve. Several prefects attended the Mount Lawley RSL ANZAC service on Sunday and our Head Boy Jack Morris and Head Girl Georgie Dolgoy laid a wreath. On Wednesday Mount Lawley Senior High School conducted the annual Ex-POW Memorial service in Kings Park to commemorate the Ex-POW Association and their lost comrades. The school adopted the service in 1997 and will continue to commemorate this service into the foreseeable future. It was attended by all of the Mount Lawley Prefects and Year Councillors while the School Concert Band and Choir performed a number of hymns. I would like to thank all students for their contributions to each event and in particular Stuart McWhinney of Year 12 who played 'The Last Post'. I would also like to acknowledge the work of Mr Neil Hudson who coordinated all three events.

Week 2 ended with an exciting and entertaining Arts Festival. It was my first Arts Festival and I was very impressed by the level of participation from students and staff and by the general atmosphere of the festival. It is a great way to showcase the Arts and to provide opportunities to engage our students and I am sure the festival will continue to grow. Congratulations to the Head of Department Dr Dale Irving, the Arts Department and the many other staff and students who contributed to make the Arts Festival afternoon such a success. It was also pleasing to welcome some of our Primary School students to join in the afternoon festivities and to experience life at a high school. Well done to all concerned!

During Week 4 every Year 9 student undertook the NAPLAN tests. These National tests in English and Mathematics have been the subject of national controversy as many educators throughout the country argue that they will be used to create national League Tables that will 'name and shame' schools. While I understand and to a certain extent share the concerns, I also feel parents like to receive the one-off test results that give a national comparison. Some points to consider while assessing the NAPLAN results both from an individual and school perspective are:

- The tests are NOT based on a national curriculum so some sections of the tests are not explicitly taught in the WA curriculum.
- WA is one of only a couple of states that does not have Year 7 students as part of the high school. Hence they don't have the access to specialised subject teachers, particularly in mathematics.
- Any individual test in a one off situation is not necessarily statistically significant due to a whole range of factors that could affect the result.

Having said that, Mount Lawley treats the NAPLAN tests seriously and combined with our own knowledge of student performance, use the results to guide and inform our teachers of student progress and specific areas on which to focus.

During Week 5 all Year 10 students sat examinations in English, Mathematics, Science, Society & Environment and Languages. The results on these examinations have provided valuable information to students and parents when selecting viable pathways and courses for Year 11. Year 11 & 12 students sat their Semester 1 examinations during Weeks 6 and 7 while Year 9 students sat their examinations in Week 7. While examination results do not tell the entire story of a student's achievement they do generally provide reward for effort and indicate where more work is required

During Week 3 approximately 20 staff spent the day undergoing some intensive Course Selection counselling training. With the Curriculum Council New Course of Study Courses now firmly entrenched, it is important all course counsellors are brought up to date with the latest developments. An important recent development that will affect our current Year 10 and 11 students will be the changes to the University of WA (UWA) courses. From 2012 UWA will offer only 5 Undergraduate Courses. Students will be required to do one of these 3 Year degree courses before they then specialise in a course of selection. The 5 Undergraduate degree Courses on offer are

- Bachelor of Arts
- Bachelor of Commerce
- Bachelor of Science
- Bachelor of Design
- Bachelor of Philosophy (Honours)

The degrees feature a simple, flexible course structure that will allow students to move from a broad range of subjects in first year to a more focused approach as they progress. More information can be accessed on the UWA web site.

On Tuesday June 1 over 250 parents attended the Year 10 Information Evening in the school staff room. The main messages that were delivered on the evening were:

- Students should choose subjects and pathways of study for success.
- There is clear evidence of the importance of following teacher recommendations.
- It is important students are engaged with their studies and should choose subjects that interest them.
- Students and parents need to research the careers of interest and understand any prerequisites that may exist for future careers or study.
- Doors never close in education and there are many pathways to success.

I would like to thank Mr Ian Johnson for organising the evening, the Learning Area Leaders, VET and Workplace Learning coordinators for their presentations and the many parents and other staff members for attending the evening.

During Week 9 all Year 10 student and their parents participated in a Subject Selection Counselling session for Year 11 2011. On Wednesday June 16 students and parents were able to access information from over 20 exhibitors including WA Universities, TAFE Colleges, Industry Groups, Police & Defence Force Recruiting and Apprenticeships. Many of the exhibitors commented positively about the behaviour of our students and the intelligent questions that they asked. All gave high praise to the organisation of the event and I would like to congratulate our VET coordinator Mrs Catherine Smith and her team of helpers for organising such a wonderful event.

On Tuesday May 4 I had the pleasure of attending the Year 8 assembly. It was pleasing to see a number of parents attend the assembly to witness their child receive an award. One aspect of the assembly that impressed me was the awards given for attendance. 62 students received a Gold Award for 100% attendance and another 82 students received a Silver Award for between 92-99% attendance. These are wonderful figures and given the high correlation between school attendance and school success, I am really encouraged by the way our Year 8 students have settled into high school.

On Tuesday May 18 we held our second whole school assembly for the term. The main purpose of the assembly was to launch the Asian and European Language Hubs for the Department of Education. As the lead school the Mount Lawley Language Department is working closely with our feeder Primary Schools to promote and encourage language studies. Special guests at the assembly included the Director of Secondary Education Ms Lois Joll, MLA for Mt Lawley Mr Michael Sutherland and several Principals and representatives from our local feeder Primary Schools. Other highlights of the assembly were the Student of the Month awards, the Italian tour presentation and the LawleyLive video of the memorable moments of Term 1 produced by our chaplain Mr Andrew Paul.

Mount Lawley SHS has initiated an innovative Senior School 2011 Course of Study program for Senior School students beginning in Term 4 this year. Current Year 10 and Year 11 students will begin their respective Year 11 and Year 12 Course of Study programs in Week 5 of Term 4. The last day of the year will be December 10 for both year groups. Making this change to the normal program will give the Year 12 students an extra 5 weeks to complete what can be a hectic and stressful final year. If you are a Year 10 or Year 11 parent please note this date as your son's/daughter's final day for 2010.

I continue to be amazed by the number of activities and opportunities that are made available to the students of Mount Lawley even during times of stress with examination marking and report writing for staff. Below is a list of some of the events (not all) that have taken place throughout the term that I have reported on in updates throughout the term.

- During week 6 our Year 8 GATE students benefited from the expertise of an Italian cooking expert, who showed them how to make fresh pasta, create a classic carbonara, arrange an amazing amatriciana and finish with a traditional tiramisu.
- On Saturday May 29, 45 of our Year 8 and 9 SVAPA students gained experience and an opportunity to enrich their Arts work as they participated in workshops with visiting experts in the areas of design, devising and movement. On the evening of the 26 May the first SVAPA Year 10 Project class presented their performances and artworks to their parents, teachers and friends in the Tricycle Theatre. The students have had artist-mentors work with them on small contemporary arts projects and this semester-long course has allowed SVAPA students to transition to the Senior School and continue to develop their arts experiences and language.
- On Wednesday June 9, approximately 20 students and staff joined coordinator Ms Suzie Barnes for a morning session of 'Zumba' followed by a healthy active breakfast in the multi-purpose room in the gym as part of the Proactive Keep Active @ Lawley Project.

- Over the weekend of the 22nd and 23rd March Mrs Leonie Stewart and her team of music teachers took a group of 65 dedicated music students to Camp Araluen in Roleystone. The work done at the camp prepared the students for the Middle School Music Concert conducted on Sunday May 30 and the Farewell Concert conducted on June 22. Both were wonderful performances. The Farewell Concert demonstrated the extraordinary talents of our students and I am sure the hard work and dedication of the staff and students will translate into high quality performances while on tour performing at the Sydney Music Festival during Week 11.

- During Week 8 fifty-two of our aspiring leaders attended the Year 10 Leadership Camp where students undertook activities and workshops aimed at improving their communication and leadership skills that will assist them to mentor new Year 8 students in 2011 as part of our Peer Mentor Program.

On Monday May 31, the Honourable Dr Elizabeth Constable, Minister for Education, visited our school to announce the 'Better Schools, Brighter Futures' policy on attendance. During the morning I had the pleasure of giving Dr Constable an unscheduled tour of our school.

On Monday June 14 Mount Lawley hosted an afternoon tea with Her Excellency Kirsty Sword Gusmao, wife of East Timor Prime Minister Xanana Gusmao. Mrs Gusmao was greeted by student representatives from Mount Lawley's Student Interact Club and our Head Boy and Head Girl.

Throughout the year our students have helped collect and raise money for East Timorese schools and baby clothes for new mothers. Our involvement in this project has stemmed from links made with East Timor by substantive Principal Mr Milton Butcher who is currently serving there as an Army Reserve Officer. It fills me with pride to be able to showcase our school to distinguished guests who are always impressed by the behaviour, attire and attitude displayed by our students.

Our seventh Community Art Auction was conducted on Saturday June 19 and was once again a resounding success. I congratulate the Parent Support Groups from the SVAPA and Music programs who contributed many hours to organise the event. In particular I would like to acknowledge the work of Tracy Kenworthy and her organising committee, the student helpers, auctioneer John Cook, MC Russell Goodrich, web site master John Prior, data base organisers Andrew Venn and Donna Hart-Venn, Andrew Paul and his cadets for organising the parking on the night, Yvonne Scott & her clerical staff for managing the money and the clerical requirements for the event, Mike Camilleri for helping set up and the Music staff and students who provided the entertainment for the night. I also thank Ian Johnson and his Senior School staff for their cooperation to rearrange their rooms for the event.

On Friday 25th June, 3 Year 12 music students, Jade Richards, Sam O'Connell and Josiah Padmanabham will travel to Shanghai to perform at the World Trade Expo. Across the State eight of the most outstanding music students were selected to represent Western Australian at the Expo and for Mount Lawley to have 3 students selected demonstrates the high quality of our Certificate 1V Jazz Program. Mrs Anita Chong will also travel to Shanghai as a chaperone for our students. We look forward to hearing about the experiences of this group on their return and wish them a safe and stimulating tour.

On July 1 and 2 Matt Parry and Max Owen of Year 10 will be competing in the 3rd Chinese Bridge Chinese Proficiency Competition for Foreign Secondary School Students held in Adelaide. This is a wonderful opportunity for Matt and Max who will compete against students from SA, ACT and the NT with the winners travelling to China in October to compete in the World High School Competition.

On August 9 substantive Principal Mr Milton Butcher will return from leave. My last day as Principal will be Friday August 6. I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank the Mount Lawley community for the opportunity to lead the school this year. I believe that Mount Lawley SHS provides high quality instruction and is a school of opportunity for students. I have thoroughly enjoyed the challenge of working with the community to improve the educational outcomes for Mount Lawley students and I will carry fond memories of the Council, staff, parents and in particular the students of Mount Lawley.

MIDDLE SCHOOL

This term has been a very busy and productive time in the Middle School.

Apart from the usual academic program, punctuated this term for the year 9s by the NAPLAN tests and Semester One exams, we have had a Middle School Assembly which highlighted many students' achievement, the Year 9 Carnival, numerous excursions and camps, and performances by our Music and Drama students. The term culminated in a very successful Parent / Teacher / Student Interview Evening on 1st July.

I would like to highlight one recent event which to my mind epitomises the spirit of the philosophy which we hold, and that was the Year 9 MLSHS Science Investigation Awards presentation from 7.00 – 8.00 pm on Thursday 24th June in Community One. This evening provided the students with an opportunity to showcase the results of six weeks of work investigating a scientific problem of their choice, and the quality of the work they produced was outstanding. The projects, undertaken in association with the Primary Industry Centre for Science Education and the University of Western Australia were very well-presented, and showed a wide range of problems tackled and the enthusiastic adoption of the scientific method in solving them. It seemed that every student in Community One was present, together with at least one parent, and the atmosphere fairly buzzed as everyone walked around the room admiring the displays. Tea, coffee and light refreshments added to the happy and social atmosphere, and when the winners were announced there was universal appreciation for their efforts. Congratulations must go to Jenny Martino, who organised the evening and facilitated the work that the students had done. The combination of student engagement, academic rigour, and parent involvement was a terrific example of middle schooling principles in action.

During the Parent / Teacher / Student Interview Evening on 1st July a number of parents picked up flyers which we had placed in each Community, advertising an opportunity to hear visiting American speaker, author and consultant Judith Baenen, who will be visiting Perth next month. She will be presenting two sessions for parents, one at Wesley College on Friday 6th August and one at St Stephen's School on Thursday 5th August, both from 7.00 to 9.00 pm. I was lucky enough to see Judith's presentation at the Middle Years of Schooling Association Conference in Brisbane last year and found her hugely entertaining as well as wise and very interesting, so can thoroughly recommend her presentation.

Tickets must be purchased through the school and will not be available at the door, and as they are selling fast, if you are interested in hearing Judith speak please be sure to register your interest by contacting Middle School Reception at the beginning of next term. We will book enough tickets to satisfy the demand from our school community, and then sell them to you at our cost price of $10 each. Payment must be made to Mount Lawley SHS by one week prior to the event and tickets will be issued to you by the school.

Cash/Cheque payments can be made. Please place in an envelope and ensure it is clearly labelled with your name and your child's name and form class and brief de-

Judith Baenen is a speaker, author and consultant who focuses on issues affecting middle years students and their families. She has been a classroom teacher, an administrator, and is the former director of member and affiliate services for the National Middle School Association (USA).

Judith is the author of popular publications: H.E.L.P. (How to Enjoy Living with a Pre-adolescent); More H.E.L.P. and H.E.L.P. for Teachers, and is a regular contributor to Middle-E Connections.

Judith assists school communities as they focus on meeting the needs of young adolescents, including their transition into and beyond the middle years. Her humorous keynote speeches and workshops are filled with real-life experiences that provide insights into the lives of middle years students.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY HONOURS 2010: CONGRATULATIONS TO ROBERT STEWART BELL AM PHD ANU

Former student of Mount Lawley Senior High School (1959-63). Robert was honoured by being awarded Member of the Order of Australia in the Queen's Birthday Honours 2010. The citation states, "For service to contemporary craft and design as a curator and advocate, and to the Art Gallery of Western Australia and the National Gallery of Australia."

Robert Bell (Lawley Alumni Class of 1963) graduated in Design from WAIT in 1966. He worked as Senior Designer at the Western Australian Museum from 1967-77 before becoming curator of Craft and Design at the Art Gallery of Western Australia (1978-2000). Robert is currently Senior Curator Arts and Design at the National Gallery of Australia, Canberra (2000-present).

<http://members.ii.Net/~lawley/alumni/students/notable.html#1963>

Robert considered that his art teacher (Don Willis) was a great influence on him. Robert and Don had written to each other in 2008 shortly before Don died (aged 87).

Robert received a previous Australian Honour in the year of the Centenary.

On 01 January 2001 the Centenary Medal was awarded to Robert Stewart Bell "for service to Australian society and the decorative arts".

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY HONOURS 2010: CONGRATULATIONS TO MR IAN WALLACE MURRAY OAM, Former Principal of Mount Lawley Senior High School (1991-2002). Ian was awarded the Medal of the Order of Australia.

The citation states, "For service to the community through a range of roles with sporting, social welfare and health care organisations." Ian has a long association with Swimming WA and was awarded Life Membership in 1989. He also has a very long association with Rotary International, having recently been District Governor of Rotary WA.

The P&C have been very active, as usual throughout term 2. The support for the school, staff and students has been excellent. We have recently funded the establishment of a new, much improved school web site; this will be up and running soon, we will be providing funding to combine with monies raised by the Student Council, which will be used to purchase additional outdoor seating around the school. The P&C recently funded the annual "Chill Out" as a reward for all year 12 students.

Members of the Health Committee have assisted with the Healthy Active Breakfast and then again with Chill Out and the Mount Lawley World Cup. We have had the Music Support group working hard to help with concerts, camps and all things musical plus parents volunteering their office skills to support the music department. The SVAPA Parent group have helped support an excellent Saturday workshop for year 8 & 9 SVAPA students and the Language Support Group hosted a Languages Soiree and are busily planning activities for Languages Week and a Family Car Rally to be held on 1st August. Again, a large group of parents have worked tirelessly to hold a very successful seventh Community Art Auction. A huge "Thank You" must go to all of these parents and to those who attend meetings, share their thoughts and become involved in our school; the education and development of our children is not solely the responsibility of a school but a partnership of parents and a school working together to support each other and our students.

If you would like to become more involved in your child's education and learn what is happening at the school, please join us at our next meeting Monday 26th July 7.30pm in the Main Administration building at school.

You are also most welcome to join Andrew Paul our Chaplain for the Mount Lawley "Coffee Club" in the school café from 8.45am Friday 30th July and then alternate Fridays following. Come along for a coffee and share your views with other parents in an informal chat. Hope to see you soon

9 STEPS TO UPGRADING YOUR PERSONAL SECURITY ON FACEBOOK

The following information is intended to allow students who use Facebook, to set their privacy settings to a responsible level.

1. Some of your information is viewable by everyone

Everyone can see your name, your profile

photo and the names of work and school networks you're part of. The same applies for pages you are a fan of. If you are worried about a potential employer, your friends or a complete stranger finding out about your interests, avoid becoming a Facebook fan of such groups. You can't tell Facebook you don't want those publicly listed. Your gender and current city are also available, if you choose to specify them. You can uncheck "Show my sex in my profile" when you edit your profile if you don't want it listed, and you can leave "Current City" blank.

2. Your list of friends may also be public

Facebook also considers your friends list publicly available information. Privacy advocates worry that much information can be gleaned from a person's list of friends. But there is a way to hide the list. Go to your profile page and click on the little blue pencil icon on the top right of your box of friends. Uncheck "Show Friend List to everyone." Either way, those you are already friends with can always see your full list.

3. You can hide yourself from web searches

There is a section for "Search" under Facebook's privacy settings page, which is accessible from the top right corner of the web site under "Settings." If you click the "Allow" box next to "Public Search Results," the information that Facebook deems publicly available (such as photo, fan pages and list of friends), along with anything else you have made available to everyone, will show up when someone looks up your name on a search engine such as Google. The information you've limited access to in your profile will not show up.

This is only useful if you want people you've lost touch with, or complete strangers, to be able to find your Facebook page. If you'd rather not be found, uncheck this box.

A second setting, controlling searches within Facebook, lets you refine who can find you once that person has logged on. Limit searches to friends only if you think you have all the friends you need and don't want anyone else to find you when they type in your name to Facebook.

4. Beware of third-party applications.

Quizzes and games are fun, but each time you take one, you first authorise it to access your profile information, even if you have made that available only to your friends. You're also letting the application access some information on your friends.

Under "Application Settings," Facebook lists all the apps you have opened your profile up to. If you no longer want to authorise access to an application you can always remove it by clicking on the "X" next to its name.

Next, by clicking on "Applications and Websites" on the privacy settings page, you can edit whether your friends can share your birthday, photos and other specific information. Remember that applications can access your "publicly available information" no matter what.

The security firm Sophos recommends users set their privacy settings for two of Facebook's own popular applications, notes and photos, to friends only.

5. Go over your list of friends

The average Facebook user has 130 friends. But many people interact with a much smaller group when commenting on status updates, photos and links. So it doesn't hurt to occasionally review your list of your friends to get an idea of just who can view your status posts, personal photos and funny links you've shared over the years. Don't feel obligated to add anyone as a friend, even if that person adds you first. Be aware that workplaces and schools have rules about Facebook interactions between bosses and employees or students and teachers.

6. Create custom friends groups

If you have "friended" a lot of people, sort them. Think of the groups you interact with in real life — co-workers, school friends, girlfriends, grandma and grandpa — and organise your Facebook friends in these groups, too. Go to "All Friends" under the "Friends" button up top, click on "Create New List" and fire away. Then decide what aspects of your profile, and which status posts and photos, these people will have access to. Or, simply create a "limited" list for acquaintances or distant relatives and limit their access.

7. Customise your status posts

Type "I'm hungry" into your status update box. Click on the little lock icon. You'll see a range of privacy controls pop up, letting you either allow or limit access to the post. If you want, you can even hide it from everyone by clicking "Only Me" under the custom settings. Click on "Save Setting." Repeat with each post, or create a default setting for most updates and increase or decrease privacy as you see fit.

8. Let your friends know you have boundaries — in person

Some of us have may have checked our Facebook sites to find that an overzealous friend has posted dozens of unflattering or embarrassing photos of you. Chances are, they didn't do this to embarrass you, though if they did you have bigger problems. Rather, they probably don't know that you don't want these photos posted. Yes, tweak your photo privacy settings on Facebook. But if someone starts snapping pictures of you at a party, ask them to check with you before posting it anywhere.

9. Never assume complete privacy

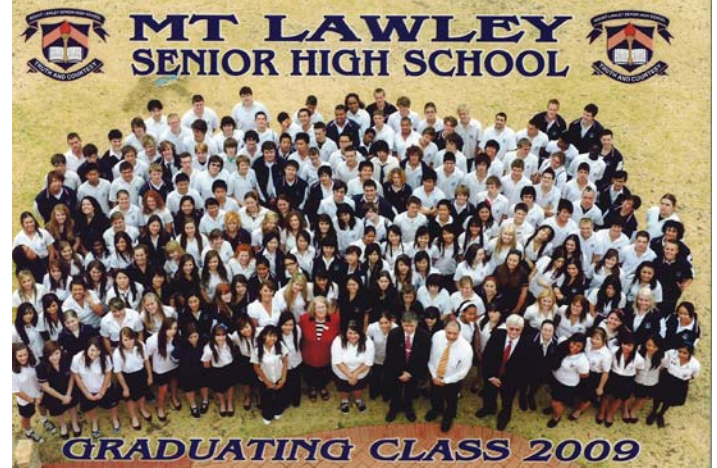

Even for the most tech-savvy person, unflattering and inappropriate photos, incriminating text messages or angry status posts about work, school or friends have a way of worming their way out in the open. Please be careful.

2009 GRADUATING CLASS PHOTOS

We have 40 spare copies of a colour A4 photograph of the Graduating Class of 2009. If you wish to have a copy, please come to the Main Administration Office, as we would like to find a good home for these photographs.

PROCEDURES FOR STUDENTS BEING AWAY OR LEAVING SCHOOL EARLY

Please ring the absentee line if your child is not going to attend school on 9471 2413 and leave their name, year and form.

Any student who is late to school is to report to the Middle School for Yr 8 & Yr 9's and Student Services for Yr 10, Yr 11 & Yr 12's with a note.

If a student has an appointment during the day the procedure is:

- Before school the student reports to Middle School/ Student Services reception with a note from parent/ guardian.
- Before leaving school the student returns to their respective office and signs the attendance register.
- On returning, the students signs the attendance register.

On Thursday the 22nd of April, Mount Lawley SHS held its annual ANZAC Day memorial service. Students were pulled out of their period one class's for the service which was to be held in the school gymnasium. After the traditional speeches and introductions from the school prefects and teachers, Mr Arthur Leggot, WWII veteran and ex-POW, was called up to speak. Mr Leggot stressed to the students the importance of ANZAC day but also stated that he thought the ANZAC legend would live on through the next generations long after the original ANZAC's were gone.

A short speech was given by two of the year ten councillors, Jordan Cafery and Kirsten Chick, offering a students perspective on the events of the world wars and the prisoners of war. Another speech was presented by Madeline Lovelle, a year twelve prefect, which outlined the experiences of her recent visit to Turkey to further study the history of the ANZAC's.

Teachers and visitors alike commented on the student's respectful and silent approach to the service and many said it was the best memorial service the school has ever had. This is likely due to the interesting slide shows and shortened speeches given by the speakers. Compliments are due to the 2010 student body for the maturity they showed during the service.

PASH- PROMOTING ADOLESCENT SEXUAL HEALTH

Adolescence can often be a time of confusion and embarrassment when it comes to sexual development. The PASH program aims to promote sexual health and well-being in young people through fun and interactive activities. It gives young people a chance to explore their sexuality and to enable students to make informed health decisions.

This program has been developed by Family Planning Western Australia and is run in the school with the full support of the Department of Education and Training.

This program will run in Term Three. The PASH Program consists of a six sessions with a small group of students. The sessions will begin from the second week of term 3.

Sessions topics include:

- Assertive Communication
- Social and Emotional Wellbeing
- Risk Taking Behaviour
- Relationships
- Contraception
- Pregnancy
- Sexually Transmissible Infections
- Communication
- Conflict Resolution
- Rights and Responsibilities

The group will be run by Pam Rosenbaum & Mel Hudson, MLSHS Community Nurses. All students invited to the program will receive further information and will need their parent's consent to be involved in the fun and learning!

WINTER ASTHMA WARNING

With the onset of winter and cooler weather, many people find that their asthma seems to flare up. If you or a family member has asthma, you can do the following things to help manage your asthma.

- See your doctor and have your asthma reviewed
- Ensure you have an up-to-date Asthma Care Plan
- Ensure you carry your reliever medication at all times
- Continue to follow healthy lifestyle choices with food and exercise
- Stay warm
- Ensure your home is heated. A warm bedroom reduces night time coughs and wheeze
- Ensure you follow your Asthma Care Plan

Asthma and Smoking Don't Mix....

Asthma can be triggered by many things and cigarette smoke, with its 4000 harmful chemicals, is a major trigger.

If you have asthma, reduce your exposure to cigarette smoke by;

- Not smoking
- Make your home and car Smoke-Free. Put up no smoking signs
- Avoid smoky environments
- Ask people not to smoke around you!

Contact Asthma Foundation on 9481 1234 for more information.

TIPS FOR PARENTS WHO DON'T WANT THEIR TEENAGERS TO SMOKE

Parents are powerful role models. It is important for parents who do not smoke to express your opinions to your teenagers about smoking. Teenagers who believe their parents disapprove of their smoking are less likely to take up smoking. Set a healthy example and don't smoke. The following tips can help you talk to your teenager about smoking.

- Talk to your teenager about what you would prefer them to do about smoking cigarettes. You begin by saying "You have to make up your own mind about smoking, but I think....."
- Help your child practice refusal skills. You may say "What would you do or say if someone offered you a cigarette and you didn't want one?"
- Ask your teenager what they think about smoking. You could say "I read that 80% of teenagers in Australia don't smoke regularly, does this sound right?"
- Ask your teenager about risks of smoking (getting suspended, the cost, addiction, the smell, poor health)
- Listen to your teenager to tell you what they think your views are about smoking
- Set family rules about smoking and discuss consequences if these rules are broken. Make your home and car smoke-free. Limit smoking to outdoors

FACT 1: Young people need to know that most people, young and old, do not smoke.

FACT 2: Most teenagers who try smoking decide not to continue to smoke

A DAY IN POMPEII

On the 28th of June, Signora Petale's Italian class went to the Museum to see the exhibition 'A day in Pompeii'. We met after form to catch a double-decker bus to pick up the Yr 6 and 7's students learning Italian at Kyilla. After we picked them up, we went straight to the Museum. We congregated outside waiting to be let in to see the 3D movie, and also were organised into groups with about 6-7 Kyilla students to 1-2 Mount Lawley students.

Once we were inside we were asked to place our bags under the stairs, to rip off one side of our tickets and collect 3D glasses. We travelled down steep stairs with the Kyilla kids into the movie room. The movie was exhilarating; it showed us how destructive Mt. Vesuvius was and gave us a visual time period of what happened to Pompeii over those fateful 2 days.

The exhibition was as amazing as the movie, with lots of artefacts from Pompeii. There were mosaics, casts, tables, vases, statues, sculptures, kitchen appliances and other little things. The casts were very lifelike, with an insight to how people defended themselves against the horrors of the earthquake and the ash. Other artefacts showed the culture and furniture of the Pompeian people; with garden murals, elaborate columns and beds. We got an insight to the layout of houses and the great structures.

We saw helmets and armour of the gladiators, jewellery, delicate figurines, boxes, preserved food and surgical kits. There was a lot of everyday items that we got to see almost too many to list.

After leaving the museum, we walked down James street to the local 'il gelato'.

ENROL FOR DRIVER EDUCATION

Mount Lawley Senior High School's Drivers Education Course will be running again, if any one interested please see Judy Zivkovic or Lalita Swami. The course will start Week 3 on Tuesdays starting at 3.15pm. Usually an 8 Week Course. Yr 10's - 12 students will receive a journal to keep during this period of time.

Each Tuesday students will have a mock test and we will discuss issues that may arise during their learning to drive period (This course does not include driving lessons), then depending on their progress will depend upon when they sit their final test for Learners Permit. Once students pass the test they will receive a certificate which they take to the Licensing Office with their birth certificate, do the eye test and pay for the permit.

Mrs Judy Zivkovic

Salve ! Well it seems like a lifetime ago that we were immersed in Term 1. Since then the Lawley Italia Tour has crisscrossed the Italian peninsula seeing more of Italy in 20 or so days than many Italians see in a lifetime !

We had magical adventures and I would like to commend our students for their wonderfully mature and positive approach to the challenges of train, subway and general public transport. I believe our students experienced Italy in a way few tourists do. They saw Italians go about their daily lives and we marvelled as we compared and contrasted Italian life with the life we know in Australia. Everywhere we went people would comment on our students' good manners and politeness and that is such a credit to our students, their parents and our school.

Right up to the end when our students had the option of hurrying out to their waiting loved ones as soon as they found their luggage or staying and waiting for all of us to find our suitcases and leave together, they chose the second option, the group option, the family option because that's what we became during our trip.

I would like to commend Mrs Petale for her tireless efforts in planning, organising and coordinating this mammoth task. I would also like to commend our Principal, Mr Stephen Spice for his positivity, support, encouragement and excellent role-modelling in a linguistic context (as well as many other contexts). He showed our students that when you put your mind to it, you can achieve anything. Grazie also to all our wonderful support and administrative staff that helped and supported us before, during and after the tour, your efforts are greatly appreciated. I believe a trip like this is life changing .

If you would like to find out what we did and what we saw, you might like to check out the tour blog at www.lawleyitalia2010.blogspot.com

Mr Millimaci, Learning Area Leader, Languages.

Bonjour.

Je m'appelle Manon Chopin et j'ai 15 ans. Je viens de France et je suis en Australie pour quelques mois. J'habite Clermont-Ferrand, pas très loin de Lyon. Je suis arrivée à Perth en mars et j'ai, depuis, amélioré mon anglais.

Aujourd'hui, mon expérience me permet de découvrir une nouvelle culture et de rencontrer beaucoup de gens merveilleux. J'ai beaucoup de chance de pouvoir vivre cela. Et je dois maintenant dire: J'adore l'Australie !!!

Hello.

My name is Manon Chopin and I am 15. I come from France and I am on exchange in Australia for a few months. I live in Clermont-Ferrand, not far from Lyon. I have arrived in Perth in March and my English is already improved.

Today, thanks for my experience, I can discover a new culture and meet lots of wonderful people. I am very lucky to be able to live that.

Now I have to say: I love Australia !!!

FROG FESTIVITIES

On the 30th of June 2010 some students from Madame Jordan's French classes went to Maylands Peninsula Primary school. We were paired up and put with a group of year 3's. We played different French games and we all had to bring frogs and there were prizes for the types of frogs. We had fun at Maylands Peninsula Primary School. North Perth Primary School also came as well.

By Caitlin McCracken, Carina Hage, Ruby Jones (Year 8).

At 1pm on Wednesday 30th June, Year 8's doing French went to Maylands Peninsula Primary to take part in festivities with Year 3's from Maylands Peninsula and North Perth. We enjoyed being their activity leaders and playing games.

LAUNCH OF THE ASIAN AND EUROPEAN LANGUAGE HUBS

Wow, what a day it was for Languages at Mount Lawley on Tuesday 18th May. Our whole school assembly was the forum for the Launch of the Asian and European Language Hubs. This is an initiative that will see our school form vital partnerships with our partner primary schools to build bridges between the primary and secondary sectors.

We look forward to working closely with, Coolbinia, Inglewood, Maylands, Kyilla, Yokine, Mount Hawthorn and West Leederville primary schools to provide a strong, continuous and seamless languages learning program that incorporates innovative high quality teaching and learning programs. This hub will combine the efforts of educators in both sectors, primary and secondary and embed a truly collaborative approach to public education with a differentiated curriculum as a key component of the new programs.

We trust that these new relationships will continue to grow stronger over time to provide reciprocal benefits to the primary and secondary schools connected through the hub. Representatives from the primary schools were invited to the launch to accept their certificates of partnership from our Principal. We were pleased to have special guests including Lois Joll from the Department of Education and Geoff Davis (AM) the founding teacher of Chinese in Western Australia share the moment with our whole school community.

A short video presentation of the Lawley/Italia Tour was screened and we were delighted to have the Year 8 and 9 Chinese choir perform for us. Thanks to Ashleigh, Scarlett and Belinda who shared their experience of the Italy trip with us all. It was a proud day for Languages and we look forward to the building bridges program becoming stronger each year.

Tuesday 25th May was our GATE Club and this time it was an event with a difference. The GATE Languages, Chinese and Italian (Year 8), German (Year 9) and Indonesian (Year 10) were treated to a Masterchef Masterclass with native speakers demonstrating a variety of traditional dishes.

The aim was to teach students how to prepare the various dishes so they can share their cooking skills with family and friends at home, thus further expanding the cultural expansion and knowledge of our language studies beyond the classroom walls.

Students worked with recipes prepared in the target language and took notes as they watched and listened and practised the cooking skills our masters had to offer. The native speakers were impressed with the interest and enthusiasm of our students both in a culinary and linguistic capacity.

It was one of the most exciting times of my time at MLSHS because the Middle School North Community was abuzz with sounds, smells and tastes from around the world. Chinese Cooked Yangzhou Fried Rice, German had Black Forest and Strudel. Italian had Pasta All'Amatriciana, Pasta Alla Carbonara and Tiramisu. Students were positive about the experience and it was wonderful to see everyone working together as a team. Students moved from one area to another observing and learning about the different foods in each culture and language. This is what language teaching is all about ! It's about community, cooking, eating and chatting together absorbing the language and culture of each country. We are very fortunate indeed that we have the facilities we do in the Middle School, allowing us to prepare, cook and eat in a clean, safe and comfortable environment.

The positive energy attracted staff and it was great to see Mr Colin Hawke, Mr Andrew Ruck, Mr Tom Jones, Ms Bianca Petale, Ms Di Scott, Mr Michael Camilleri drop by and interact with our students. It is important that we all support and encourage each other to continue to strive to do the best we can for our students, that's what makes our school such a great place to be.

I would like to thank the teachers who were teaching during our GATE Club activities for their patience, tolerance and understanding (a community is like a family, there's almost always something happening!). I would also like to thank our native speakers and cooking assistants, Hong Qi Mao, Geoff Davis, German's Pre- service teacher from UWA Stephanie Boyes (who had her first hands-on food experience), Simonetta Mencaccini and Alice Marini and Feon Nahas for their time and for being prepared to share their culinary skills and knowledge with our students, your help is greatly appreciated.

Finally I would like to commend our GATE Language Teachers for their support, encouragement and efforts. This is an incredibly busy time for all teachers with exams, reporting, marking and so on and yet your enthusiasm and willingness to give our students that little bit extra, an experience that they will remember long after they leave our school is to be commended. Thank you, bitte, xie xie, grazie, Mr Peter Stotzer, Mrs Anita Chong and Mr James Cheah for making Languages such a wonderful component of our students' school life. I am proud to be a member of the Languages Team at Mount Lawley. Keep on cooking !

Mr Joseph Millimaci

On the 24th of June 2010 the 2011 GATE students came for an activity day. We started off the day with a short assembly to inform parents and students about the GATE program. We then broke off into groups for a tour of the school with the current year 8 GATE students as tour guides. We were hopefully very informative whilst on the tour!

The Year 7's then separated into two groups to have a taste of Italian and Chinese. The Italian activities included ordering their own food using Italian dialect. They also got to try some coffee, make their own short movie, research about Italy on the MacBooks and the year 8's versed the year 7's at singing "Volare". Of course the Year 8's were the better of the two.

The Year Seven's made dumpling's with Mao Lao Shi, which I am pretty sure they had fun doing. They also sang many songs in Chinese with Xie Lao Shi, and made a traditional Chinese toy, called a 'jian zi'. They had great fun playing lots of games using the 'jian zi' and so did all of the Year Eight GATE students.

We also had two lunch breaks along the way with some delicious food from the D'Cafe. We would like to give special thanks to Mr Millimaci, Mrs Petale, Mrs Chong and Mr Cheah for organising this special event and we all can't wait for these students to start at Mount Lawley.

By Samantha Bain & Jayde Wilson

On the 21 June, both primary and secondary students met at the Chung Wah Association Chinese Cultural Centre, in Balcatta, to participate in a Panda Picnic.

The students participated in various activities such as paper folding, face painting, fun with chopsticks, Jianzi making, language and cultural quiz and finished off with various students participating in a cultural performance for the group. Mt Lawley Senior High school students performed a Chinese song. Thank you to Mrs Chong and the Language students who supported and mentored the primary students from our Language hub, Inglewood and North Perth Primary schools. It was a great day for all!

A VISIT FROM AN AWARD WINNING JOURNALIST

In Integrated Studies we've been studying a Media topic, Bias Detection, so Mrs Gardiner organised a guest speaker, Today Tonight's, Graeme Butler. Butler has won the Australian Journalists Association's award for excellence, two years in a row (for coverage of the Jakarta crisis in 1998 and the devastation of Exmouth after Cyclone Vance in 1999) and has been a reporter with Today Tonight since 2000. Previous to that he was with Channel Seven's News.

He shared with us his many experiences as a journalist overseas and in war-torn countries. Butler suggested that what is presented by media is not normally as biased as some members of the public perceive it to be. He intimated that much of what is written about journalists in textbooks is unfair.

The student's interest was reflected in the many questions that were asked. Some of these were:

Predictably the first question was - "How much do you earn?", "What is the best part of the job?", "Has anyone attempted to sway your opinion?", "What is the most memorable story you've ever reported?"

Butler's passion for his work; the people he has met; and constructing a good story were communicated interestingly to us. As a result of his presentation, perhaps we will be less cynical in our perception of how the media operates, and to read our Bias Detection notes with a touch of cynicism!

AUSTRALIAN MATHEMATICS CHALLENGE

The Australian Maths Challenge is a problem-solving activity organized by the Australian Mathematics Trust which is aimed at the top 15% of students in their year level. It takes place over a 3 week period – students are required to present written solutions to a set of problems which are very challenging, require time and persistence and are based on mathematical knowledge. The problems are then marked by a teacher from the school and then sent to Canberra.

Six Year 8 students took the challenge this year – Daniel Nguyen, Rod Woodgate, Sarah van Halen, Peter Logue, Mason Stokes and Isaac Johnston. All problems were marked by Mrs Ingle. The students performed extremely well and we are now waiting for the final results and awards to be posted. Stay tuned.....

HAVE SUM FUN ONLINE

HAVE SUM FUN MATHS COMPETITION

During the month of May 2010, seven teams of Year 8 students competed in the Have Sum Fun Online Interactive Maths Competition against 76 other schools from Western Australia. The competition consisted of 3 rounds of 10 questions involving a high level of mathematical thought and team work, with each round to be completed within one hour.

All teams performed extremely well with our top team, Team 2 scoring in the top 22% of the State, Team 1 scored in the top 26% and Team 4 scored in the top 36% of the State.

Congratulations to the following participants:

Team 1:

Isaac Johnston, Britanny King, Peter Logue, Daniel Nguyen, Brianne NG (absent)

Team 2:

Team 3:

Team 4:

Team 5:

Team 6:

Team 7:

Cei Giorgio Reid, Mazen El-Megbr, Isaac Ellis, Sita Chhetri.

Ms Terry Ingle (Yr 8 Maths)

The day started off at 9:15 at the front gate, when we called the roll and got on the bus. We got to the Perth Art Gallery at 10:00 after leaving at 9:30. We met up with Natasha Hill and the three tour guides, as they explained the main sections of the Art Gallery. At the front foyer we saw a giant insect web, made of real human hair and there was a baby leaning over the edge of a giant hair sack in the Patricia Piccinini exhibition.

We split up into two main groups, got appointed to a guide to a group of 18. As one group got split into two, they searched around the gallery, looking specifically at maths based artwork. As that group went off, the other main group stayed together and learned more about the maths side of it, by redrawing some pieces in relation to perspective.

On the first tour we discovered the main types of illusions like 3D illusions on artwork and as we got closer to the art work we had a second choice of it being 3D or 2D. We saw how maths can assist the design of art pieces including standing upright and not falling, like the brick wall and how it is positioned. It needed maths to make it stay upright and display a 3D effect. We talked about shading and texture to artwork and how artists use it in landscape portraits.

We were very lucky, as one of the pieces, had a man standing in the middle of the Graham Farmer Freeway. We turned around and saw the man who was in the painting. We had to look back and forth a couple of times, as we weren't sure. Peter Farmer explained to us that the freeway was named after his uncle, Graham Farmer. We could see almost real life sculptured like the 'kid who played the game boy' or the 'women who was attacked by creepy monster'. We found some very abstract and vivid works of art. Some was very clumsy and was just splashed and blobbed paint on the canvas. Depth and overlapping were used to show how thick something is or how far it is (is it at the back or at the front?). The use of colour can create a mood in the artwork and you can tell how the artist is feeling.

The second group was told how John Brack created "British Modern". It was based on modern ballroom dancing. The floors were upright like it was a wall. The girl partner had a very false face like it wasn't true. The colours he used were greens, yellows, and oranges. He was trying to represent falseness. Both of their legs were touching a line on the floor board. It was as if it was a tightrope. One move out of place and their career would be over!

We then had to draw the same artwork but in a different way. We had to make a room with a vanishing point to make it more realistic. We made miniature drawings of the two dancers and we had to draw them like they were posing in the artwork. After that learning experience we walked to the Old Shanghai and we ate Asian food for lunch. Some people went to the Hi Tea shop to buy bubble tea.

When we returned to school we finished off our work on "Modern Dance".

The main thing we learnt in this excursion was that as Luca Pacioli said: "Without mathematics there is no art". And who was Pacioli?

Leonardo Di Vinci's maths teacher!

FROM HOME ECONOMICS.....

In Children, Family and the Community in the context of Caring for Others the Year 11 Course of Study requires students to learn about parenthood. Students have the opportunity to take home a virtual baby and learn about a baby's intrusion into a parent's life and the responsibilities which accompany the role. This aspect of the course is extremely popular and students hold a very strong interest in working with babies.

In Home Economics at Mount Lawley Senior High School, we have three virtual babies. They have a computer chip which can set off their crying and interrupt the student until the baby is settled by comforting and rocking. This may be disruptive but rewarding when our students realise the benefits of correct care result in a happy baby.

Unfortunately some students don't take full responsibility for their role and it is recorded on the computer chip that the baby's are not comforted correctly and not handled appropriately. This poor treatment which is registered on the computer is then assessed negatively and marks are taken from the student's final score.

It is imperative that this learning opportunity be appreciated and all school students take the management of these babies seriously. Students are most anxious to learn from the care of these babies and the staff of this department appreciates the effort that families take in having the babies in their homes. We also know about sleepless nights!

Like real babies ours don't like abuse of any nature, like to be dressed up for special occasions and rocked, cuddled and hugged and their presence shared with others. We welcome new students in for 2011 classes and know they will enjoy and learn from these simulated classes.

MT LAWLEY SHS: COLLECTION OF LEGO FOR CAMBODIAN ORPHANAGE

In December 2009 we were going to teach English, play with the kids and do what ever was needed to help bring some relief and fun to the lives of a group of Orphans in an orphanage in Takeo Province, Cambodia. Through my conversations with the director of the orphanage, we established that he wanted to set up a LEGO centre for the younger kids. LEGO is expensive in most places, but 'cost prohibitive' in Cambodia. The educational advantages of LEGO were never going to be realised unless someone donated the lot. That seemed like a big ask initially, but I thought "We can make that our goal-to set up a LEGO centre for the kids". I just had to acquire the LEGO and then get it to Cambodia. That all seemed simple enough – and in fact acquiring the LEGO was not hard at all – getting it there proved to be a bigger issue. My enthusiasm was shared by a lot of people; unfortunately people didn't as readily share my positive outlook for the uplift. However, many people searched out second hand or bought new LEGO to donate to my cause, in anticipation that it would be uplifted. Students, teachers and friends all found at least a small box to give me.

I would like to thank all of those students, parents and teachers that helped generate a 35 kilo parcel of LEGO (we divided it into 3 lots) that was thoughtfully uplifted by Air Asia-free of charge. It was a huge success with the kids at the orphanage. We even built them a special table to house half of the LEGO and sit to play at. After the children received the LEGO, they played with it constantly. At any given time of the day, we were always guaranteed of seeing at least 2 students at the LEGO table playing/creating. My next venture begins now – summer clothes for 52 orphans. The challenge is on.....

Lynne Noack, Learning Area Leader - Society & Environment

The only one word can describe Workplace Learning (WPL) for this semester is "FANTASTIC", students had the opportunity to try out work skills in many fields of interest. Students were participating with placements in animal refuges, trail bike workshop, popular tourist icons just to name a few.

Some students were lucky to get full-time employment, part time work, an apprenticeship and lots of useful knowledge in areas that they will be pursuing in their work pathways. At the end of this semester there could be an opportunity for two students to take part in school based traineeships. During the semester students even found out that the career they thought was the one for them discovered other pathways, like working with animals and changing to events assistant, from painter to applying for a retail course.

Not only did some students receive fantastic opportunities but also a self esteem boost; a leading sport store had 6 students taking part in WPL from Mount Lawley Senior High School and other high schools in our district. One morning the manager asked all WPL students to a meeting to discuss their progress, the manager asked our only student to stand to one side and told the other students that she was disappointed in their performance and wished that they would present themselves like Holly Sue. Well done Holly!

I would like to extend a big thank you to these companies for their part in allowing our students the chance to experience these fields of career pathways:

The Body Shop, Jacaranda Child Care Centre, Rebel Sports, Xtreme Bikes, BCF, Platinum in Perth Hair Studio, Toll Fleet, Highs and Lows (HAL), Swan Bell Tower, Harvey World Travel, Flight Centre, Theiss, JB HI FI, Morley Recreation Centre, Holden Auto Centre, Dynamic Auto, Bunnings, Bridal Events, Kidz R Us and Skate and Surf. These are just a few of the Host Employers, without these companies our students would not be able to gain real life experience.

If you know of any company or your own business would like to become a Host Employer please contact me with the information.

And last but not least I personally would like to thank ALL students for their professionalism during their time in their placements - you did Mount Lawley proud! Looking forward to another great semester.

Judy Zivkovic, Workplace Learning Coordinator

I had the pleasure of taking three teams of eager Year 12 Chemistry students to Curtin University for the RACI Titration Stakes. This is an analytical competition for Year 12s across the state, to refine their skills in Chemistry titrations and reinforce their understanding of the Chemistry syllabus.

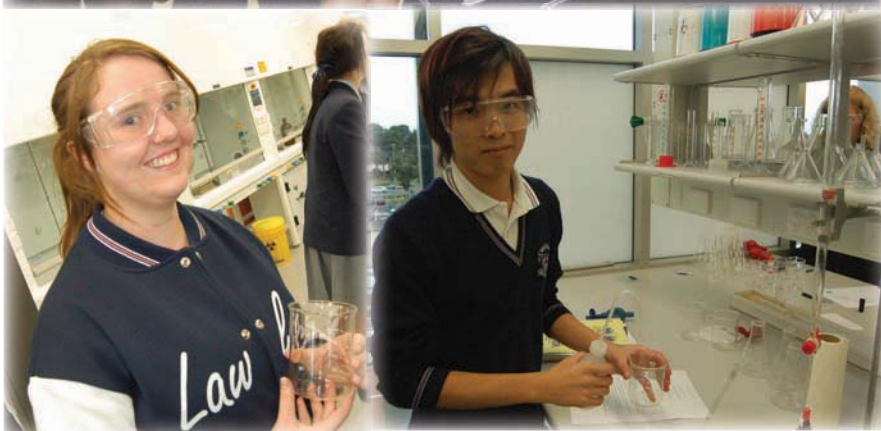

Our teams rated 31st, 49th and 62nd.

I was very proud to take the team members who represented our school with pride.

The following students are to be commended for their effort in this challenging competition:

On the 6th May 2010 two Year 10 students, Jordan Cafery and Jeremy Begg, went with Ms Martino to Government House. There they spent the day, mingling with a total of 150 students from other schools ranging from Tom Price all the way down to Albany.

ferent aspects of the topic such as current environment, ease of idea, access and the reality of it happening.

Most groups filled the butcher's paper full of fantastic ideas. Since the main topic of the day was Biodiversity, almost all questions involved finding sustainable ways to achieve goals, and how these ideas could be put into practice.

We were provided with an excellent lunch from the chefs at the house. A particularly interesting speaker was Dr. Ken Michael who spoke with wisdom and heart, provoking strong reactions from the students.

Overall it was a brilliant day and we learnt a lot, we were given skills beyond our years in the way to look and analyse topic with insight and passion.

There the students from all schools were put into groups and listened to different speakers, each with a different way of viewing us in the future and what they could do to improve and preserve the environment. There were four main speakers, including a representative from Rio Tinto and a student from UWA. Between each person speaking, with the groups a question was pitched for the students to brainstorm and explore, venturing into dif-

Twenty two exhibitors attended the Careers Expo which was held in the Senior School Building on Wednesday the 16th of June.

Over 500 students and parents took advantage of having tertiary institutions including all of the WA based universities, three of the TAFE colleges, Defence and WA Police Recruitment and representatives from industry available to discuss future employment, training and education options.

Information was also available about traineeships and apprenticeships, as well as alternative pathways for Year 11 & 12 students.

An impressive display was presented by the students and teachers currently involved in the Certificate courses delivered at MLSHS which include Certificates I & II in Business; Certificate I & II in Visual Arts and Contemporary Craft; Certificate I in Furnishing and Certificate I in Engineering.

Feedback from students indicated that the Expo was able to provide links to the information that they required to assist in selecting courses for next year- both at school and for post-compulsory options.

It was a very positive afternoon and all exhibitors commented on the quality of the questions and the behaviour of all the students who attended.

ANZAC SCHOOL CEREMONY SPEECH

Over the April holidays, I was fortunate enough to travel to Turkey as one of 12 West Australian students on the Premier's ANZAC Student Tour. As well as visiting moving battlefields like Lone Pine, the Nek and the Turkish 57th Regiment Memorial, the aim of the tour was to educate students about the importance of ANZAC Day.

My understanding of the value of human life was dramatically reinforced whilst in Gallipoli. Seeing the thousands upon thousands of Australian, New Zealand, Turkish, British, French, Scottish and Irish gravestones and headstones had a very large impact on me. No longer can I learn facts about war and interpret the casualty and death rates as just statistics. Each and every headstone, gravestone and memorial that I witnessed belonged to a person with a family, friends and a life, just like us. A single bullet had the power to end everything right there and then, and for all the names that I saw at Gallipoli, that is what happened. Just like that, a life could be destroyed. This is the reality of war, and the essence of commemorating ANZAC Day.

All I could think about at Lone Pine was how many men my age did not get the opportunity to experience a full life – how many opportunities they did not get to experience because they sacrificed their lives fighting for our country. As a result of my tour to Gallipoli, I have learnt this; we may not have the opportunities we have today in front of us tomorrow. In a split second, our lives may become drastically changed by a single bullet. There is nothing that we can do to dodge that bullet that has our name on it, but there are opportunities we can and must seize so as not to waste the opportunities the ANZACS gave up for us. After having walked on the beach where a generation drowned in the water, this message is engraved in me.

The ANZACs are true heroes. Their selfless acts of courage have been exemplary. These men are heroes because they gave their lives without hesitation for us. Quite often they knew the odds of surviving were against them, yet they faced the challenge with their heads held high, and with courage, mateship and determination. These men I have walked in the footsteps of, they are true heroes, and I am proud to be able to say that I am an Australian who has witnessed the exact consequences of war.

Today, we thank these heroes for their sacrifices – the importance of ANZAC Day shall never be forgotten. Lest we forget.

FOLLOWING THE FOOTSTEPS OF THE POWS AND 'WEARY DUNLOP' IN THEIR TIMES OF ADVERSITY 1942-1945

On Friday 16th April a group of excited young students from various schools - country and city - left from Perth International Airport on a journey that will change their lives and understandings of war. They embarked upon the "Quiet Lion Tour", travelling to Bangkok, Thailand and then to the Burma border. A tour that began some 8 years ago, taking ex POWs from the Burma-Thai railway with family members and students. The intention of the trip was to educate everyone of the atrocities of war, the POWs lives and the empowering words and deeds of "Weary" Dunlop. This great man saved the lives of countless Australian men in the degrading conditions of the Burma-Thai railway (slave) camps. Through his ingenuity and medical training he was able to improve the chances of survival of these men, a fact not lost on those lucky enough to return to their homes after August 1945. It was a group of these same men that believed the honour of such a great man should be preserved and the understanding of his contributions to our history needed to be passed on to future generations. Hence, the creation of this tour, and the name, an honour bestowed on Weary Dunlop - "The Quiet Lion".

For the first time two students from MLSHS were lucky enough to be invited on this tour . Both students-Kate Prast and Emma Guiffe- are year 11 History students. What they learnt on this tour will be invaluable in their personal growth, but also extremely helpful in their year 12 studies of Australian history. In the photo above, both girls are shown with ex-POWs – Snow Fairclough (a sprightly 89 year old) and Bill Haskell (a determined 91 year old). Both men have accompanied this tour many times. I first met them on the 2008 tour and remain in 'awe' of their strength, courage, determination and spirit. The girls' story follows....

Mount Lawley's annual Arts Festival held on Friday 30th April was once again a resounding success ! Congratulations to Dr Irving, the Arts staff in particular and the staff and students at our school for making it such a special event.

xie to all those that assisted in making this event such a fun and enjoyable addition to our school calendar. We all look forward to the next Arts Festival Day which will be even bigger and brighter !

Mr Millmarci

I was thrilled with the sights, sounds, music, art and cultural activity that filled the spaces around our campus. Congratulations, or should I say gong, xi to the Chinese teachers that made room 10.5 such a vibrant and colourful place to be, not just for our students but also our Asian Hub partner students from Inglewood Primary School. They were treated to an assortment of activities including Chinese Calligraphy and Origami. Xie

On Thursday the 29th of April a group of Year 9 students from Community 1 went on an excursion to the Francis Burt Law Centre to spend a day learning and experiencing the ways of court life.

First up we took a tour of the Supreme Court which is the highest of the hierarchy in WA, the inside of the room was still dated and hadn't changed greatly which gave it that authentic environment. Sitting in the seats of the court room gave you the idea of what it was really like if you were in that position, being the accused isn't a very exciting spot to be in.

Later on we got to experience something not many other 14 year old would, we had the chance to watch a real court proceeding about people smuggling, the case was very interesting but slow going, apparently all cases are like that. It was a very serious and intense case but also relaxed going back and forth between questioning and answering. At one stage the jury had to leave the room so the judge could discuss extra information with the prosecutor. Sitting in silence while you watched question and translation was very tedious because you wanted to get to the good stuff but we left before most of it started, when you enter the room and leave the room we all bowed to acknowledge the judge and the law.

After we had endured the people smugglers it was time to take a court case in our own hands, we had gathered in a hall which was Perth's oldest and first court to be built, in there we had been given parts to act out in a case of murder, a young boy John Gavan who was accused of murdering George Pollard with an axe while sleeping, he was later hanged at Fremantle Round House, in the conclusion of our case Gavan was proven innocent when in fact historically he was guilty although there was a twist to the ending the whole act was well done and fun to perform.

I'm sure everyone who went on the excursion enjoyed it and gained some useful information for example next time I try to smuggle in people it won't be by boat.

Mount Lawley Senior High School competed in the PICSE Science competition at UWA in June. There were 60 Year 9 and Year 10 students attending this event, and the standard of Science Investigations were exemplary.

Our students behaved really well, and once again shone as ambassadors for our school.

I had a small part to play in this one, supervising on behalf of Richard Meagher and judging the Year 9 entries last week. But to Mr Richard Meagher and Ms Jenny Martino, well done and congratulations on all of the hours you put in to the competition and organising your troops for such a wonderful day.

One of our Year 10 groups won an award! Congratulations to Alana Shaylor and Vi Tran for their project titled "A Sticky Situation". They won the people's award choice for Best Investigation of the competition in Year 10 and received a $50 cheque.

To our other support staff, Reid Hamilton (the wonderful driver), Ms Gallagher (the wonderful praccie) and Laurie (the wonderful bus organiser!), thanks for your assistance.

PROACTIVE KEEP ACTIVE GROUP TRAINING

For the past 5 weeks we have been running twice weekly group training sessions after school.

These sessions are taken by Heath, Nat and Daniel – Cert IV Personal Training students from Central Institute of Technology. Now half way through the program, the results are showing and fitness is improving. These sessions are a lot of fun and are having great effects on our strength and health. Keep up the good work and huge effort everybody!

ULTIMATE FRISBEE GALA DAY

Mount Lawley Senior High School recently played host for an Ultimate Frisbee High School Gala Day. The event was organized by the WA Flying Disc Association (WAF-DA) and sponsored by the Department of Sport and Recreation and Lottery West.

Top state coaches provided excellent tuition in skills for new players and advanced tricks for the more experienced students followed by informal matches. The day was open to students from all high schools, not just Mount Lawley. It provided a great opportunity to exercise, maybe learn a new sport and also have fun with friends from other schools.

Every participant received a free disc, T shirt and yummy lunch – we even concluded the day with chocolate! The WAF-DA will be holding another day in Term 3, look out for information and register to come along. It certainly was a great day, highly recommended.

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY WEEK ☑ ZUMBA AND HEALTHY ACTIVE BREAKFAST

In celebration of Physical Activity Week, Wednesday morning saw a bleary eyed group of staff and students head to the ECU Health and Fitness Centre for a 7.15am Zumba class followed by a delicious breakfast.

This was provided by the Proactive Keep Active @ Lawley Project. There was a lot of giggling and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the session. We all decided that it was definitely worth leaving our cosy beds on such a cold morning for some exercise and fun. Thanks must go to the Health Committee for their help with the breakfast.

This Project was funded by the Australian Government Department of Health and Ageing.

On Wednesday 30th July, World Cup Fever hit Mount Lawley. More than 180 students took part in a five a side soccer tournament, playing as world cup teams run throughout the afternoon. Mark Lee, professional soccer coach coordinated separate girls and boys competitions.

The session started with a demonstration match between the staff team, which included our local MP Mr Michael Sutherland MLA and Uruguay (this team was made up of the volunteers who provide breakfast at school from the Victory Life Church). The referee for this game was Mr Spice and calls of favouritism abounded as he was somewhat generous with his yellow and red cards. Uruguay finished the game with 2 players on the field and man of the match was awarded to Mr Singh for his outstanding performance in goal.

The competition throughout the group stages was fierce but all in good nature. In the grand finals, it was Netherlands who were victorious over Uruguay to claim the boys title and Mexico clinched the girls trophy from Brazil.

The atmosphere was wonderful and the afternoon was enjoyed by all; it could not have been so successful without the help and support from Parent and Community volunteers who assisted with the event and the amazing contribution from the students who volunteered to referee the matches and assist with the organisation of 8 soccer pitches all playing at once.

Thanks must go to Mr Sutherland for his sponsorship of trophies, to Mark Lee Football coaching and Kelme for their prizes, National Foods for the flavoured milks and finally thank you to all staff and students involved for your effort and excellent behaviour.

On May 10th and 17th 2010 Loftus Recreation Centre hosted the School Sport Volleyball Championships. Mount Lawley SHS was represented with 15 teams consisting of 12 Middle School teams and 3 Senior School teams. Teams played pool matches followed by quarter and semi finals with the top teams in each pool making it through to the School Sport finals held at UWA on June 18th.

Competing against Specialist Volleyball Schools such as Rossmoyne, Greenwood and St Marks the students played exceptionally well with all teams having close, enjoyable and competitive games.

The Volleyball teams were represented and superbly captained by the following students:-

Yr 8 Boys	4th	Capt. Ben Ogenis
Yr 8 Boys	5th	Capt. Rod Woodgate
Yr 8 Boys	6th	Capt. Casey Leaver

(through to School Sport final on June 18th)

On Thursday May 29th 40 Year 8 and 9 girls attended the north of the river netball carnival. In at times torrential rain the girls played 5 games against other attending schools such as John Forrest, Mirrabooka, Governor Stirling.

The Year 9 teams were led by captains Georgia Pitt, Ashley Blanch and Sarah Spight with the aide of year 10 students Kirsten Chick, Louise Rowe, Bach-Kim Dong and Cassandra Payet. They played tirelessly against specialist netball schools and were highly competitive.

The Year 8 teams were led by captains Marissa Byrne O'Neill and Emily Fuller (who despite being on crutches was a fixture on the side of the court) with the aide of year 10 students Santi Wardana, Janeille Macneill, Ivy Luong and Jennifer Lam.

Despite neither Year 8 team recording a win they improved greatly on the skills and goal scoring. The day was marred by the constant rain but the enthusiasm and perseverance of all students involved was outstanding.

Standout players on the day from Year 9 were Georgia Pitt, Ashley Blanch, Ella Brown, Jasmine Pietricola, Brooke Hutchinson. For year 8 the standouts were Marissa Byrne-O'Neill, Tara Bacovic and Rebecca Sampson. Congratulations to all the students for their hard work at training sessions and on the carnival day.

YEAR 9 CARNIVAL RESULTS

On June 16th 125 Year 9 students competed at the Year 9 Sports Carnival. Students were able to choose to compete in teams in the sports of Boys and Girls Soccer and Basketball, Girls Netball, Mixed Hockey, Boys Football and Girls Volleyball.

We competed against other schools such as Hampton, Swan View, Mirrabooka, John Forrest, Eastern Hills, Ballajura, Governor Stirling, Lockridge and Morley. After a full day of competition, in what turned out to be beautiful weather, we recorded some of our best results ever as a Year 9 group.

Thank you to all the staff, and students, for making the carnival a very enjoyable and rewarding day.

BELT UP CUP SENIOR SCHOOL FOOTBALL

Congratulations to our boys for an excellent performance in the 2010 competition. Our final result was 2 wins (vs Aranmore College & Morley SHS) and 2 losses (vs Chisholm College & Mercy College.) We had a very young team this year which included a lot of Year 10 players, so it seems we have a bright future over the next two years!

Some of our star players during the competition included Stephan Collins, Sam Ims, Alex Vernon, Aaden Griffiths and Dylan Pietracola. One player will win the Dolph Danti Fairest & Best Trophy for 2010, which will be presented at the school assembly.

A big thank you to Ken Stewart for goal umpiring, Bill Armstrong for umpiring and Kurt Underhill-Pomeroy for assisting with the coaching.

CLOTHES WANTED FOR CHILDREN IN TIMOR LESTE

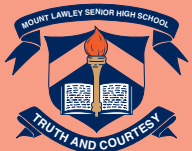

The Year 12 Councillors are preparing to send clothes to children (aged from 1-5 years) in Timor Leste. The plan is to collect clothes that are still in good condition (only clothes for warm weather, please) from the school and local community.

The donation of clothes will then be sent to Timor Leste c/o of Mr Butcher (School Principal) who is currently serving in the Reserves there, to be distributed to the local community.

Councillors are planning to contact the RAAF to fly these clothing to Timor Leste or raise funds to transport the clothes over.

If you have any children clothes to donate, please look out for further information and donate through your students at Mount Lawley Senior High School.
